THE GEORGE BROWN COLLEGE OF APPLIED ARTS & TECHNOLOGY

FROSH DAY '70

The Year of Masters vs Slaves

Orientation and Initiation of Freshmen at George Brown College DEFINITIONS:

Masters — will be senior students of this college who have completed one semester; Manpower students who began their courses prior to May 15, 1970; E.S.L. students who are in the final two months of their course.

Master's Uniforms:
Casual clothing — blue school ribbon — engraved "Seniors".

Slaves — will be the junior students of the colleges who have just commenced their first course as of September 1970; Manpower students who began their courses after May 15, 1970; E.S.L. students who have not reached the four months stage of their course.

Slave's Uniforms:
Very casual clothing — frosh beanie, button, and ribbon. NOTE: Freshmen not in uniform will be reported by seniors and will be subject to a Kangaroo Court!!!

PROGRAM:
Thursday, September 17:
Frosh activities will commence at 12:00 noon where all students will gather in their respective cafeterias, except for Nassau Campus who will gather in their gymnasium.

The Masters will then select their slaves and will inform the Freshman of all the rules pertaining to Frosh and making them clearly understood. Freshmen from that moment on will be committed to do the bidding of their seniors. NOTE: If a Freshman does not comply with the wishes of his senior he will be reported and will be subject to a Kangaroo Court!!!

At the same gathering each campus will select from the girls present two entries to compete, on behalf of the campus, for the title of Frosh Queen. This contest will be judged on beauty alone. The girls selected will be considered sacred. One of these girls will be chosen for Frosh Queen 1970 by a talented group of judges; Mr. G. Armstrong, Vice President of the College, Andy Winter — President of SAC, Ron Lessley — Office Manager, Barbara Anderson, Secretary SAC, and Brian Stutz — Editor of the Globe. NOTE TO ANDY WINTER: Your wife has threatened to kill you if you kiss the winner!

The judging will take place at Stanley Park, King west of Bathurst, where an exhibition Soccer Game will be played between the George Brown Huskies and the Humber College. During half time festivities the Frosh Queen will be chosen.

Students must show tickets for the Soccer match to their instructors in order to be excused from classes.

Following the soccer match, a parade will make its way to the Press Building in the C.N.E. grounds (near the Dufferin Gates) where non violent "Millionaire's Nite" will be held. Everyone is invited to attend and there will be no admission charged. A band will be provided for your entertainment and drinks, and refreshments may be purchased.

For a Las Vegas type evening there will be fun, gambling, and dancing. The Press Building will open at 7:00 pm, and closes at 12:00 midnight.

CRISIS IN DEVELOPMENT

The 1970 International Teach-In begins Friday, September 18th, at 8:30 p.m. at Central Technical School with an address by Mitchell Sharp, Minister for External Affairs. The programme continues all day Saturday with major addresses by Maurice Strong, Director of the Canadian International Development Agency, Romeo Maione of the Canadian Catholic Organization for Development and Peace, and a filmed interview with David Hopper, the director of the newly established International Development Research Centre.

The programme will deal with theories of economic growth, the philosophy of aid, Canadian aid, trade and investment relations with economically underdeveloped countries, the overall framework of Canadian foreign policy, etc. The intention is to provide a clear and coherent understanding of the philosophy and practice of present Canadian policy towards the underdeveloped countries of the Third World.

This will provide the basis for a two month programme of education culminating in a second teach-in in the weekend of November 13 — 15 at the Ontario Institute for studies in Education. The second forum will stress the point-of-view of the underdeveloped countries themselves, with particular emphasis on the Caribbean as the major area of Canadian imperial influence.

Between the two teach-ins, participants will take part in a two month study programme. Study groups of 10 — 15 people will meet weekly to discuss the implications of international development. They will have the service of a trained discussion leader and a study guide, comprising four basic units of study, and a series of optional units. The study group provides a forum for small scale discussions and intensive analysis and permits participants to relate to issues in more immediate and personally meaningful ways.

The programme is intended to encourage public discussion of Canadian foreign policy by

THROUGH THE EYES OF A FROSH

There is little new in the Toronto entertainment scene. That is, there is little new that's worth while, since we just returned from a moderately entertaining summer. I'll remember some of those things that gave me pleasure.

Putnew Swope:
Racist, tasteless, but tastily racist. Putnew Swope came to Toronto after a one-year run in New York with Rave Reviews. Initially this is not a "Colour" picture: not entirely — the black and white is real, but colour the commercials a lie.

Putnew Swope is elected to the position of Chairman of the Board of a large advertising agency. Those who voted for him did so because they each thought no one else would, for you see, Putnew Swope is black — and that's with a capital "B".

He revolutionizes the advertising industry by using actual getting devices as nudes bouncing on a mattress in an airplane, and only at the last minute, or second, plunging the airline while intimating that passengers get a chance at these four plots, two white, and two black.

The plot is hilariously, but pathetically vulgar. Don't look for a message. Laugh at the film; enjoy it; it's damn funny.

Technically, at times, it is brilliant, especially the colour scenes, but on the whole, the film is mediocre with one very poorly edited scene. I predict that it could be the unrecognized movie of the year. Too bad you missed it.

The Twisted Mask

*The secret that is hidden by a twisted mask
Entangles webs of larceny within the mind
Without the holes for eyes to see, they never ask
What is the truth? And then proceeded to wander blind*

*Insinuations, allegations, perpretate
A strong frustration to the face of decency
Is it real? Whether it be love or hate
That hides within this twisted mask of secrecy*

*But none the less if one thing still consumes the mind
And that is, the pursuit of just and honest goals
I'm sure the twisted mask would not have been as blind
If it remembered that its eyes had needed holes.*

ETHNIC FROLICS

The announced E.S.L. party held at College Campus went off with astounding success.

And for the approximately 300 people in attendance, there was not a dull moment.

The party which was organized by Francois Saad, in the remarkably short time of one week, featured performances by the ethnic groups of the Campus. The evening featured Yugoslavian, Greek folk dancing, a Spanish traditional dance, and a special show put on by the teachers.

There was also dancing to the music of a professional band called "The Fryers Band".

These New Canadian students in the "English as a Second Language" Program, repeat the celebration every month with a little help from SAC.

Tune in next issue for details of the September 25 Fête.

"20001 — A Space Odyssey" is now in its 3rd year of freaky, mind tripping, stereo cinema at the Glendale Theatre. I've seen this flick 5 times, and I'd like to go back again. There is usually an intermission about halfway through the showing. If you are into these things, you might like to get yourself stoned during the intermission so you'll catch the head show of the second half in the proper frame of mind.

For those who know little of such matters, Space Odyssey is a typically sturteute story of people who go overboard with cybernetics. The story is written by Arthur C. Clarke, who is one of the top two science fiction authors, and one of the world's outstanding scientists.

For visual effects, fine music, 2001 lack nothing. The well-written book integrated with great scores make the film worth the three bucks they soak you to get in.

WOODSTOCK — is in its 7th month, making a world record, according to the Uptown Theatre where it is showing. I have yet to see it. I'm told that this film is great. But the folks who rave about this film really dig the subject — which I can either take or leave. I do intend to get to it, but only to say that I've been there, it appears to be IN to see "Woodstock."

The Toronto folk film, "GOING DOWN THE ROAD" is still at the New Yorker. If you don't catch this, you're missing a great story about something so Canadian the Yankees couldn't copy it.

EDITORIAL

As Editor of the Globe, I may be sticking my neck out, especially when my term as Editor ends with this issue — and I have the choice of re-appointing for the position. But, I feel that the position of the newspaper in the matter of the arrest of the Treasurer of SAC should be published.

I cannot justify the continued legal proceedings against Jim Simpson. My main concern, I must candidly state, is for Jim and his family. The maximum sentence for the alleged theft is 2 years and I feel that if he is willing to make restitution for the money missing — SAC should attempt to have the charges dropped.

While I cannot, by any means, condone the alleged theft of money from the SAA account, I feel that the continued publicity of the case would only hurt the good name that George Brown enjoys and also bring irreparable damage to Jim and his family.

The Board of Representatives of SAC has the future of Jim Simpson in their hands, and I call on the leaders of SAC to attempt to have the charges dropped as long as an agreement can be reached on restitution.

It is my hope that there are others who feel as I do, and they will make their voices heard, by circulating the petition printed elsewhere on this page and returning it to me.

Letters To The Editor

This letter is intended to clarify the situation at Conestoga College in view of the recent coverage in news media and the protest which is being organized by students sympathetic to Mr. Don Groff.

Those not close to the problem which came to a head this past summer could misinterpret the environment at Conestoga within which faculty and students are operating.

Since the College opened in 1967 faculty, students and administration have worked together in a spirit of cooperation to create an environment which contributes to the students' present life experience rather than just a stepping-stone to some future ambition. Students have accordingly contributed much to the growth and development of our College by serving on many committees and stating their opinions and objectives. Faculty have entertained their ideas and where practicable permitted their implementation.

All of this has taken place with the cooperation of the administrative personnel at the College. Whatever the environment is, whatever circumstances exist and surround us, there are always a few who find the situation untenable. There are many more, however, who see imperfections and attempt to resolve these through dialogue. The spirit of cooperation which exist between administration and the students is second to none. In many instances, the requirements of students have taken precedence over those of faculty because of the faculty and administration's desire to make this a College first for the Community and secondly for faculty. Administration's role is supportive to students and faculty.

Those who intend to protest an arbitrary administration will leave here perhaps envious of those students who have decided to seek higher education at Conestoga.

I realize a small minority of our students will however find these comments unacceptable, for our environment does indeed fall short of complete and total shared decision making. For those of this belief, I regret that our society is really to blame here, not Conestoga, for even under a democratic system final authority and responsibility must rest with those elected or appointed to positions.

Our Board of Governors recognizes this and in order to be more effective in setting policy for the College have consented to have a student serve as an ex-officio member of the Board of Governors so the Board may fulfill its responsibility ever mindful of the goals, aim and desires of the students. How many other Colleges in Ontario are this progressive?

Dear Sir:

It was an embarrassing shock to myself after reading your last issue to see my name as a reporter. Now, I don't mind being classed as a reporter (even after I was the No. 2 assistant editor of this newspaper.) It is only the fact that the story I submitted was taken out. I found it personally embarrassing for I wrote about the College's work at the C.N.E. and upon receiving the papers I proudly handed them out to the people I named in my report, then I sat down to read it. At that time, I found out the only thing mentioning the C.N.E. was their "press release" which did not mention the George Brown exhibit. By the time I was finished reading it I had one paper thrown back at me with the question "who wrote this junk?"

The pictures were good, I will not discredit your photography, but, there should have been a story with them.

After contacting you with my complaint I learned that the PRINTERS pulled my story and submitted one concerning Conestoga College. Now, sir, I know that printers do not have the right to do that. If they do, you do not have to pay them, and that is precisely what I am challenging you to do.

As for the rest of the newspaper, well, some of your items were newsworthy; namely, the Versaford column, and even the Conestoga College one was interesting. But you and I both know that most of the paper was made up of last year's first edition; in other words, you just put out a paper full of fillers.

After working with the paper since January, I am, naturally, familiar with the trials and troubles an editor can have. I do sympathize with your position. I am definite your next paper will have even more news than your readers can take, so I will just wish you luck for your future papers.

S.A.C. Treasurer Arrested For Alledged Misuse of Funds

Jim Simpson, who was named Treasurer of S.A.C. in April by acclamation, was charged last week with theft of approximately $1,700 of Student Council funds.

The issue came to light when several members of the Board came across a Student Athletic Association cheque that looked questionable. They presented the cheque to Andy Winter, SAC President, who confirmed that the Corporation had no dealings with Coventry Motors, to whom the cheque in question was made out.

The fact that the cheque had only one signing officer added to the suspicion of misappropriation.

A request by Board members for an immediate freeze on all SAC bank accounts was then carried out. A Board meeting was called on August 26, to deal with the Treasurer's handling of SAA and SAC funds. Andy Winter expressed his complete shock and surprise at the Board's charges on the matter. The Board then appointed an investigating committee to carry on the investigation into the financial dealings of SAC, and the Athletic Association. Bob Tiffin, President of College Campus SAC, was appointed chairman of the committee. The rest of the committee consisted of executives of the other George Brown campuses.

The committee in its report to the Board at a meeting on September 10, related that evidence against Simpson was mounting. In their possession were numerous cheques made out to cash, and also cheques for insurance, and car rentals.

A charge of theft over $50 was filed against Simpson by Andy Winter, on recommendation of the committee, since Simpson was away on holidays and there were no guarantees that he was returning to Toronto.

When Jim did return to his home in Oshawa he was informed that the police had been to his house while he was away. He called the police and they asked Simpson to come in to see them.

He was then charged for the alleged misuse of funds and after talking with the detectives and appearing before the Magistrate, was released on a $100 bail.

The Globe in an interview with Simpson learned that he regrets everything he's done and he feels the system in which SAC is run, led itself to corruption. Simpson also stated that no one person should be placed in such a temptuous position.

Simpson further stated that "notwithstanding the present situation in SAC, SAC needs a reliable core and the only way that will come about is when SAC turns to the Administration. It can't continue on the way it is now. SAC is like a yo-yo, and the situation has to be corrected. I happen to be paying the price. I have never before been in jail and the possibility of being cut off from everything I have, and my family, is the most frightening thing I have ever faced. I will have to develop more fortitude, but also I hope this will strengthen SAC."

A Proposal For Revised Administration of SAC Finances

In lieu of the financial and unorthodox handling of corporate funds, consideration must be given to immediate changes. Without pointing out personalities or delving into names, it should be realized that the present system as it stands invites too much temptation for any one person to be responsible for and is too dependent upon the maturity of an individual who happens to be a student, placed in trust of a substantial amount of money. Because of the nature of the system and in keeping with its democratic ideals, the signing officers must remain as those elected by the student population. However, the keeping and recording of all cheques and documents must be handled by an impartial individual or individuals. The signing officers must in no way be permitted to handle these books. And all entries should be consistent with the above-board decisions made by the executive or the directors of the Corporation. Since the secretary of the Corporation is not a signing officer, it is advisable that the secretary be responsible for the administering of the books. A duplicate of files or document photostats must be kept on hand to confirm any or all entries. The treasurer's responsibility can no longer be that in which he or she directly handles funds. The treasurer must be prepared at all times to present to the Board of the President of the Corporation a complete and detailed breakdown of all expenses incurred at the request of any one director. The Treasurer must also be prepared to present a monthly disbursement of funds that are broken down sufficiently to the satisfaction of the Board. The Board is not required to accept the Treasurer's statement and any questions posed by the Board members on any section of the statement will mandate the treasurer to produce sufficient evidence to the section in question for the next Board meeting.

The Treasurer's responsibility shall also include the determining of SAC budgets pending the Board's approval. The Treasurer may have several kinds of responsibility at the request of the President or the Board and maybe the Chairman or a member of any standing or special committee. ENTERTAINMENT

Theatre:

In case you don't know it, "HAIR" in Toronto has broken all Canadian Theatre records. This musical is said to be well worth the time and money and its impact on contemporary cultures is obvious.

Keep your eyes on events at the Global Village at 17 St. Nicholas Street. They promise good entertainment for everyone this season. I'll have more as soon as possible.

Nite Clubbing:

Just so you'll know that there is more to life than Grossman's:

Ella Fitzgerald is back at the Imperial Room at the Royal York for 2 weeks. Spend an evening with her, but watch the bar bill mount.

"Aquarius Risin" n jazz trio visiting "Meat n' Potatoes" restaurant at Huron and Bloor.

Bruce Cockburn is now at the Riverboat. The Junior Mance trio just finished a gig at the Town Tavern wait, they'll be back.

The Zanibar Tavern, 359 Yonge Street, features topless go-go all day from noon. Don't go there for lunch unless you plan to stay all afternoon. Television:

Television:

This is the week of new season previews. There hasn't been news about anything hopeful, and that's part for the course. I'll clue you in on any goodies I may discover.

I recommend that you watch CFTO Channel 9 for the 11:00 o'clock news for the best and most complete news. Dave Deval, the local weather man could have been a comic. He makes bad weather easier to take. After that, Johnny Carson on Channel 2 at 11:30 followed by Dick Cavett on Channel 7, followed by Channel 7's newsreel at 3 o'clock is almost a sure-fire way to put you to sleep.

Dick Van Dyke is still running on Channel 6 at 6:00 and on Channel 2 at 7:00 o'clock. It's still one of the best sitcom shows.

Radio:

They're much alike; does it make that much difference who makes the noise?

CIBC, the french station in Toronto seems to have about the most artful and creative programming. You don't have to speak french to enjoy most of the shows. Jazz, which is a common feature, is like no other station's offering.

Recordings:

Buy "THE WIZARD OF OZ" for a fantastic in-depth musical, audio poem. It has a meaningful message that doesn't have to be intellectually uncovered. It's great, heads.

Footlights:

McGoughlin Planetarium at the museum subway station is a far-out place to visit. The museum has less of the mustiness it had when we were forced to go.

Go to Toronto's Islands before the cold comes in.

Wasn't the Ex a giant ditto?

And for a free, fun comedy show, visit City Hall when council is in session.

KEELE CAMPUS STUDENTS RELUCTANT

TO PAY BANK LOANS

The Keele Campus Student Society, which lends money to students to see them through the last few days to pay day, has been forced to temporarily halt the further lending of money.

Wayne Collin, (Keele Treasurer) is reputed to have said, "Because some students have not been repaying their loans, we are forced to freeze any further lending".

Wayne Collins also said, "Some students who borrowed money have left the school and we can't get in touch with them."

It seems inevitable the Keele Student Society is going to have to employ a more efficient loan system if they don't want to lose all their money.

SAC PLANK

I would like to welcome the students of The College and express the hope that you have a most successful year. I trust that your summer was a great deal more productive than SAC's.

On July 7, SAC was hit by a clarification by the Federal Government of the Legislation Concerning Manpower Students' Activity Fees. As a result, SAC is now $130,000.00 poorer this year than last. To those of you who may be happy about this decision, I remind you that the money was to be spent on Crucial Services and Programs that are greatly needed by all the students.

Housing Services, Child-care Centres, and Job Placement have all returned to their former states being no more than dreams for the future.

The next blow to fall concerned the integrity of the Organization of the Treasurer of the Corporation appeared to take it upon himself to use the Students' dues allegedly for his own personal use. Although he has not yet been convicted, the evidence against him appears to be substantial.

When I first took this office, I had never once thought that this series of things could possibly happen during my term. It has taken place, and there is no point blaming the system. The only thing left to do is to make improvements.

I'm not overlooking my fault in this. I am the President of the Student Council and therefore consider myself responsible for what has happened. I don't know what another President would have done if he were in my place, but being in my own shoes, I'm taking the opportunity to serve the best interest of the Student Body at George Brown College. I have chosen to fight for what I believe in.

I have learned, and will continue to learn. I will succeed in maintaining your confidence because I sincerely do want to work successfully on your behalf. One bad apple removed won't corrupt the whole bush.

Some students have already expressed displeasure with SAC and had asked not to pay the Student Activity fee. This is not unusual. I'm told such requests are made at every college.

Personally, I would not be concerned if SAC had no money. I have worked for successful benevolent organizations which operated with no budget. They achieved a great deal of success because the people involved had the strength and spirit to follow their beliefs or ideals — for the betterment of mankind.

This is my only motivation.

This has been a nightmare of a summer and I wouldn't wish it on even my worse enemies. But being in my position, I have to take the good with the bad.

I feel that I have worked very hard this summer but to little avail. My dad did teach me one very important thing in life, and that is, "If you are any kind of man, you will bounce back twice as high after being knocked down." And it takes is for one student to be satisfied and to show his encouragement for my work to make me feel good inside. Although I won't succeed in making all of you happy, I will succeed in satisfying the majority by the time I finish my term.

I express the feeling, with SAC, that there is one thing you can all be assured of, and that is, I'll go out feeling real good.

developing a concern with the dangerous and growing disparities between the rich and poor nations. More importantly it provides a context within which the individual can attempt to relate himself and his habits both as producer and consumer, to this problem. In this it provides a tentative model of community education which is flexible, problem centred and prepared to organize people to deal honestly and critically with current political problems.

To protect the integrity of the full programme, participation in just one part of the programme will be discouraged in favour of full participation. Interested groups and individuals should pre-register with the International Teach-In Committee, 44 St. George St., 2nd floor, 923-6854 or 923-6444. COLLEGE CAMPUS BLEEDS FOR THE RED CROSS!

September 9th was the day of the fall bloodbath for the Red Cross. Over 100 pints were given; Over 100 lives were saved. Did you save a life today?

THROUGH THE EYES OF A FROSH

After a four and a half year retirement from school, I finally returned to the glory and glamour of Fabulous George Brown College this year. You all know how confused I immediately became.

My course, Graphic Arts, is entering its second year — a year which is the first true first year. It is apparent that the organization of the administration of the school is virtually non-existent. To me it is funny, but I can imagine how frustrating this becomes to the novice.

I am told that when the offset printing presses were moved into the Teraulay building, walls which had just been built had to be knocked down to allow the machines' entry. This was due to poor planning on the part of those who were architecting the job, and not, apparently, the G.A. department. Now, it appears that there will be a disruption of major proportion when Teraulay moves into the new Downtown Campus building. And it appears that the same mistakes will be repeated.

The Students' Council also had its mixups. It seems that there is some difficulty with money resulting from some executive fol-de-rol. No one knows where SAC membership cards are issued from, but we do know that they exist. Few new students know that there is such an animal as SAC, and few that do, know what student activities are available, and that they are paying for such activities whether they use them or not.

So George Brown remains in the Embryonic Stages with few instructors knowing what they are supposed to be doing, and fewer students knowing what they shouldn't be doing. A classic case of the blind leading the blind.

I look forward with joy for the fun all this leads to.
